18. INFO ABOUT THE CITY

At all levels, Maribor tells a rich story about the intertwining of creativity, knowledge and orientation towards progress; about an environment where those who create and live in it feel good.

Maribor lies at the intersection of two natural routes: the first is the Drava river, which divides the city into northern and southern parts, the second, the meridian direction, is a transit route across the Drava from the Graška basin to the Celjska basin. The road and railway through Maribor connect Central and Southeastern Europe.

Thanks to its high-quality infrastructure, integration into the logistics network and excellent geolocation, which places it in the very center of Europe, Maribor is a first-class business environment for developing or upgrading business opportunities.

Like Slovenia, which is known in the world as a green country, Maribor is also a place that is sustainable and offers opportunities for balanced business and leisure time. It is an example of coexistence with nature, sustainability, and the direction of responsibility towards the most valuable that the environment provides. Doing business in Maribor therefore also means being in contact with the authentic nature that surrounds the city and its surroundings.

Maribor is a place with a long historical tradition, with countless pieces of life from the past and cultural tradition, which spreads out before those who come into contact with it like an endless museum.
