Bylaws - amendments

The BoD has resolved amendments in the EUBC Bylaws, effective November 18, 2023 which introduces a new section dedicated to the EUBC Competitions: all EUBC Competitions shall be governed by the Bidding Guidelines, the Competition Guidelines and any specific regulations applicable to the respective competition.

Bidding Guidelines

The Bidding Guidelines – available or soon available on the EUBC website – define the requirements and terms to submit a bid for EUBC Championships of any category

Competition Guidelines

The Competition Guidelines – available or soon available on the EUBC website – define the applications process, organizational-administrative-sport-financial requirements, rights and obligations for the EUBC Championships and for the EUBC sanctioned events.

The Competition Guidelines also define the minimum requirements of an international tournament to be a EUBC sanctioned event, and their classifications.

Category A – international tournaments that has participation of 15 and more Team Delegations

Category B – international tournaments that has participation of 3 to 14 Team Delegations

The Competition Guidelines become effective on January 1, 2024.

Disclaimer regarding damages/inappropriate behavior by Team Delegations

A Disclaimer against damages/inappropriate behavior by any member of a team delegate has been endorsed by the BoD.

The Disclaimer will enter in the Competition Guidelines, the Team Handbook and it will be presented at every EUBC Championship

EUBC Brandbook

The EUBC Brandbook has been released, and it provides the rules and guidelines for using the EUBC brand in all of its applications and deliverables (from social media to website, from business cards to banners).

Iconography has also been developed.

Future LOCs of EUBC Championships and EUBC sanctioned event will rely on the Brandbook to deliver their own marketing tools in coordination with the EUBC brand identity.

EUBC is becoming the Home of European Boxing

The EUBC Brandbook has also developed an secondary logo, designed to convey a message of unity and belonging:
